How is disability defined under this plan?

This own-occupation policy requires that an insured be unable to perform the substantial duties of his or her particular occupation for a 24-month period to be considered totally disabled. Under the Voluntary Long Term Disability benefits Own Occupation definition, you are considered disabled and eligible for Long Term benefits if, due to sickness, pregnancy or accidental injury, you are receiving appropriate care and treatment and complying with the requirements of treatment and you are unable to earn more than 80% of your pre-disability earnings at your own occupation.

Benefit reductions under this plan

Your Long Term Disability benefit replaces a portion of your pre-disability earnings, less other income you may receive from other sources for the same disability. Benefit reductions can include, but are not limited by income and recoveries from certain other sources including: Social Security disability or Workers' Compensation benefits; and unemployment insurance laws or programs.

When do benefits begin and how long do they continue?

Benefits begin after the end of the elimination period (90 days). The elimination period begins on the day you become disabled and is the length of time you must wait while being disabled before you are eligible to receive a benefit. Your elimination period for Long Term Disability is 90 days or until the end of the Short Term Disability maximum benefit period. Your plan's maximum benefit period and any specific limitations are described in the Certificate of Insurance/Summary Plan Description provided by I.A.T.S.E. Local 52.

ADDITIONAL PLAN FEATURES

When you are ill or injured for a long time, MetLife believes you need more than a supplement to your income. That's why we offer return-to-work services, and financial incentives and assistance in obtaining Social Security Disability Benefits to help you get the maximum benefits from your coverage.

Rehabilitation Benefit

A Rehabilitation benefit increases your benefit by as much as 10% when you participate in a MetLife-approved rehabilitation program.

Work Incentive Benefit

While disabled and receiving a monthly benefit, you may receive up to 100% of your pre-disability monthly earnings, including family care expense reimbursement, Rehabilitation incentive, return-to-work earnings, and other income benefits and other income sources such as Social Security benefits. After the first 24 months following your return to work, MetLife will reduce your Monthly Benefit by 50% of the amount you earn from working while disabled.

Family Care Expense Reimbursement

Get reimbursed for eligible expenses incurred for the care of each qualified family member when working or participating in a MetLife approved rehabilitation program. The Family Care Expense Reimbursement program may apply when you participate in a MetLife approved rehabilitation program while you are disabled. You can receive reimbursement for the care of other family members, including child care or care of a parent in your home.
